CASE STUDIES

Case study:

Nissan contacted Response to attend to provide a bio hazard clean up after one of their clients vehicles had been broken into and as a result bodily fluid (blood) was deposited within the areas of the driver and passenger seats.

Case study:

Our client base ranges between local authorities, such as 'Bolton One', heritage sites such as 'Heritage England' and even educational facilities such as 'The Manchester University'. Each sector is very different from one another, however their reasons for using Response Bioclean definitively the same- to provide them with fast, reliable & professional specialist cleaning services.

Bolton One, often utilise our services when their tenants experience unpleasant sewage problems which cause significant damage within their client's homes. We support

Bolton to ensure their tenants can return back to their homes safely without risk of contracting a serious illness.

The Manchester University often call on us when they require waste removal services, oil remediation services or hygiene services.

We support Heritage England sites to remain safe for the public by ensuring all remnants of filth, waste or fouling are removed and safely disposed.

WASTE MANAGEMENT

Do not underestimate the severity of not ensuring that your business waste is not properly disposed. You need to be aware of where exactly your waste is being disposed. Whether your waste is WEEE, fridge freezers, food or hazardous waste- they should be recorded and easily traceable for your own records. Response Bio Clean will always provide you with traceable waste disposal services so that you may never find yourself being liable for the irresponsible disposal of waste of others. This kind of irresponsibility could incur your business a hefty fine and in worst case scenarios - Prison!

Response Bio Clean can respond to your commercial and domestic waste needs. Our business works with you, ensuring that waste is properly disposed of. If you are concerned where our waste is being disposed, DON'T BE, we can provide you with all the appropriate transfer papers for hazardous and nonhazardous waste. Our waste management team, ensure that responsible and trustworthy practices are embedded within the culture of our company, meaning that between the management team and our operatives, there are good practices being undertaken to ensure your needs are met with the most sensible and legitimate practices.

Formal risk assessments are identified and accordingly, measures are put in place to reduce the likelihood of them occurring.

'Elimination of the risk of contamination to landfill sites and environmental damage by ensuring correct waste disposal procedures are followed'.

'Employers are responsible for taking effective measures to control exposure and protect health. Businesses must store hazardous waste separately from general rubbish so that it can be collected and treated with the due care that prevents prosecution for failing to comply with the regulatory obligations'.
